

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the paragraph on page 44, lines 4-14, as follows:

A data processing system and method are described for specifying a cache policy for caching pages which include dynamic content. A user is permitted to request a page to be displayed. The page includes multiple fragments. An application is executed which generates those fragments. The generation of fragments is ~~[[are]]~~ unchanged by the caching policy. Each one of the servlets is executed to present a different one of the fragments. Caching of the page fragments can now be processed separately from the execution of the application.